

February 16, 2011

Project Manager hired by Warfel Construction Company

Warfel Construction Company is pleased to announce that Judd Foelker recently joined the firm as Project Manager. A resident of Myerstown, Foelker is a graduate of Lebanon High School and the State University of New York Maritime College with a BS in Marine Engineering. He was previously employed by Benchmark Construction and has over 15 years experience in the construction industry. Foelker is currently serving as Project Manager on the East High Street Elementary School expansion and renovation project for the Elizabethtown Area School District, the renovation of the Phillips Museum at Franklin and Marshall College, and overseeing various weatherization projects for the Housing Development Corporation of Lancaster.

Celebrating its 100th anniversary in 2011, Warfel Construction Company provides general construction, construction management and design/build services to clients throughout Pennsylvania and surrounding states.

#####